Blue Water Convention Center Update

Over the last several weeks, the architects have been reviewing submittals from the various contractors for the Convention Center. The submittal process is necessary in order to ensure that the right products and quantities will be installed on the project and involves both the architects and design engineers.

As of last Thursday, the official demo work began with two men and a back hoe on the future site of the Convention Center. Fessler & Bowman were awarded the earthwork and concrete contracts for the Blue Water Area Convention Center. They began work on the demo of the asphalt, loading dock and existing shrubbery on the north side of the facility. The new gas line has been run to the Blue Water Convention Center. We'd like to thank SEMCO Energy for their help in facilitating some of the infrastructure work that was required to make this project possible.

This week, Fessler & Bowman will continue demo and begin footing excavation. In addition, Oakland Plumbing will start with the installation of the new gas pipe within the facility and Stephenson Electric has begun to install sleeves and ground wires.
