New Prevention Coalition Forming in St. Clair County - We Need Your Voice!

St. Clair County youth risk behavior data shows the need to establish a new community prevention coalition. All voices are needed at the table in order to work together to reduce risk factors for youth substance use. Substance use is at the root of many societal concerns, such as not graduating, behavioral issues, truancy, violence, or family problems. Preventing risky behaviors will impact the health, well-being and ultimately the lives of teens and the community around them. Together, we will prioritize substance use issues to tackle and develop a five-year comprehensive, community-owned plan to guide coalition efforts.

We need your representation at all three planning sessions to help map out strategies that will improve the health of our youth. Please mark your calendar and share with everyone you know. Lunch will be provided.
