

Lynn Township School

A class photo in front of the school around 1900.

After its closure in the 1953, the school was moved from Lynn Township to Yale and became a heritage museum.

The school was moved a second time in 1998, when it came from Yale to Goodells County Park.

Interior before restoration. Note the wood stove.

Interior before restoration.

Restoration work included replicating missing details, like this wainscot.

Original flooring restored.

Interior after restoration.

School groups rent the schoolhouse for field trips.